

N. H. PATRIOT.

To the Democrats of Concord.

The enemy, who has contested every election since alone that of the present year in this town for the last thirty years, is again in the field throughout the State. Encouraged and emboldened by the success which has attended their efforts in other democratic States—the old federalists of twenty-five years ago who had retired from the contest are again buckling on the armor of party warfare, determined, if possible, once more proudly to trample on the democrats and punish them for having so long taken upon themselves to govern themselves rather than be governed by such as contend that they were born with the right to rule, and that it was the duty of the people to submit.

The present "armor and attitude" of the "peace party in war, and the war party in peace" in New Hampshire is scarcely to be regretted. If the old federalists have a disposition to show their teeth and even to bite, the democrats know how to meet them: let the Aristocracy in the abundance of the heart speak out their intentions from the mouth. We know how to defend ourselves, to parry their thrusts, and in the end to disarm and defeat them. In order seasonably to commence this work, we invite the Democratic Citizens of Concord one and all to meet at Gass' Hall on SATURDAY THE NINTH DAY OF DECEMBER NEXT, at four o'clock in the evening, then to hear such addresses and pass such resolutions as may embody the reasons of the faith that is in us.

All those who believe that the rights of the whole people 'rather than the benefits of the rich and the few should be respected: all who approve the policy which has been invariably supported and practised by the democrats of this State in all times—of making the objects of government few and the burdens of taxes light—of confining the General Government to the defined objects of the Constitution, and discountenancing that waste of millions on millions of dollars which the federalists have endeavored to vote for pretended objects of internal improvements: All who are opposed to buying up the peoples' votes with the peoples' money—to taxing the pockets of the laborer that the speculator may grow rich on the expenditure: All who would restrict Banks and other corporations from the power to abuse the confidence which the Legislature confided in them, and compel them to discharge all their just obligations: In short, all who desire to tread in that path, and practise those doctrines which a JEFFERSON and a LANGDON have laid down, and which ANDREW JACKSON and MARTIN VAN BUREN have sedulously attempted to practise, and which the Aristocracy of this State are now arming themselves to prostrate: Are earnestly desired to meet at the above mentioned time and place.

In 1827 ONE HUNDRED DEMOCRATS of Concord first commenced rolling the ball that prostrated an intolerant faction and wrested abused power from the hands of the federalists, and put an end for ten years to the reign of terror and proscription. Let SEVEN-AL HUNDRED DEMOCRATS of the same town now set an example which shall prove that power cannot return to the hands of their oppressors without a brave and determined struggle.
