

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTIONS.

STATE.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

CONCORD, FRIDAY, SEPT. 12-11 a.m.

Hon. Frank Jones.

The Boston Post says that the declaration of Hon. Frank Jones to accept a renomination for Congress will be read with regret by the Democrats throughout the country. His term, though brief, reflected honor upon himself and his constituents. Though not often participating in public debate, his eminent ability as a practical business man, sound common sense and correct principles combined with personal popularity, enabled him to exert a wide influence, and always in the right direction. His retirement, and his absence from our party councils will be felt as a special loss. His retirement is the more to be deplored from the fact that in the somewhat chaotic state of parties he adhered to his honest convictions, based his votes on sound principle, and constantly followed the light of the constitution. Such men can hardly be spared, and New England especially will regret the determination which his letter indicates. But in withdrawing, his flag is still found flying at the mast-head. Though modest in the expression of his belief that his place can be amply supplied by the successful successor, he entertains no doubt that the nomination convention, soon to assemble, will unhesitatingly and unequivocally hold up the banner of retrenchment and reform in all branches of the government, a sound currency, honesty and good faith in all public transactions, and insist upon the strictest accountability of all public servants to the laws and to the people. Though such sentiments were just what was to be expected, their peculiar pertinency at the present time will not fail to exert a healthful influence in the party of which he has been a lifelong member and one of its most valuable and efficient leaders. Happily, all these principles are being carried out, and his present position is assured, though even his pressing private and public engagements will not be allowed to be an excuse for him to leave his post. His "love of sound Democratic principles and his duty to the Democratic party." His excellent letter will endear him more strongly to his political friends and to the people.

Greenbackers.

The Greenback State Committee met at the City Hall, Manchester, on Wednesday evening, and arranged for holding a Convention at Manchester, September 25th. The Congressional and County Committees will be held at the same time, and probably the county, Senatorial and Congressional, unless they are called by local authorities. About sixty members were present, among whom were A. C. Wallace, Major Thomas Connelly and E. B. Hazen of Manchester, John G. Crawford of Lancaster, Charles Brown of Whitefield, Mr. Weston of the B. & M. Railroad, Mr. Moore of Northumberland, James J. Donagan of Concord, William Conn and Geo. E. Hodgdon of Portsmouth, Chairman of the State Committee, Mr. Howe Call, Secretary, Dr. E. Chesley of Chester, Stephen J. Hall of Kippin, Mr. Madden of Rochester, and others. Messrs. Brown of Whitefield and A. C. Wallace of Manchester were talked of as candidates for Governor. John G. Crawford of Lancaster will probably receive the Third District nomination for Congress.

The Mexican Question.

The Cabinet was on Friday again concerned with reference to our relations with Mexico, and a considerable portion of the Council was devoted to the discussion of that topic. The Secretary of War has received a telegram from General Ord, asking what action he should take in case the United States troops, after a raid had been made from the Mexican side of the river, should, in following the raiders, meet opposition to the Mexican troops. The question, with the general aspect of affairs in Mexico, Grande, was the subject of earnest attention. It was decided that there was no reason whatever why the former orders to the American forces should not be fully carried out, and to this end the President directed the Secretary of War to send a telegram to Gen. Ord reiterating in substance the existing orders of the War Department with reference to the protection of American interests on the Rio Grande, and the prompt pursuit and punishment of raiding parties. After the adjournment of the Cabinet, Secretary McMillan and General Sherman were in conference with reference to the instructions to be sent to Gen. Ord, and a telegram was sent to that officer advising him of the intention of this department to demand that the outrages on its citizens shall cease, and instructing him to carry out the provisions of the present orders—to follow and punish the raiding parties.

While a Congressional committee is seeking testimony as an aid in devising remedies for the prevailing industrial depression, the immigration statistics show a marked increase in the number of people from the ports of Europe who are seeking this land as a permanent residence. The number of immigrants landed at New York during the month of July was 8,689, against 6,713 for the corresponding month of last year. Of the former number 2,074 were from Germany. The fact goes to confirm the conclusion drawn from the census statistics of Europe that the commercial and industrial depression in Great Britain and on the Continent is fully equal to if not greater than that which prevails in the United States.

The Democrats are partly responsible for the extremely long session of the Legislature. The minority usually divides this responsibility by their useless delay of business. [Portsmouth Weekly Register.]

So far as the people are concerned, it is good, but don't let the Democrats say that they are not responsible for the delay. The record will show that all legitimate business has been put through as quickly as possible, so far as they are concerned.

The Butler movement in Massachusetts is rapidly taking on the proportions of a tidal wave. Not only is the announcement of the General Court's decision hailed with delight by the plain people, but the most experienced and astute politicians of the State are making haste to give in their adhesion, and to take the lead in the work of organization. It is an open secret that the two most influential Irish Democrats of Massachusetts, Hon. John E. Fitzgerald and P. A. Collins, are enthusiastic Butler men, and the Springfield Republican reports that in a letter read at a recent conference of his friends in that city, in which the old Irishman was warmly represented, the General expressed the belief that he could easily secure the endorsement of the Democratic State Convention. He will make no effort to do this, however, not considering it at all essential. The same newspaper learns that all the Democratic members of the Legislature from that region are for Butler. Evidently Massachusetts politics are going to be interesting this fall. [Salem.]

A fellow who stretched himself upon the green grass, under the shade of a tree, and cried, "Oh, how I wish this was called work and well paid for," would have been in his glory had he been a member of the present Legislature.

If Sitting Bull and his followers return to the United States they will be captured and treated as prisoners of war for the Custer massacre.

The Political Outlook.

A Friday Washington special to the Boston Post says that Representative Blackburn, Chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, arrived in Washington from New York on Friday. He denies the report that he cannot get his committee down to its work, and that his committee is organized and that its work is progressing all right. Of the prospects in the coming elections he says: "I put thirty-three districts in the doubtful list, any Republican would place in the same category. Making allowance for that, and for other things, I say without any doubt as to the accuracy of the prophecy that we are going to hold the next House by a majority larger than we now have. Some of our gains will be in Nevada and California. We shall also redeem three if not four of the Missouri Republican districts." Blackburn attaches great importance to the Fall elections as bearing upon the Presidential contest. He thinks if the Democrats lose, the loss of the Presidency in 1880 will follow. If they gain he thinks there is no power this side of the Omnipotent to prevent Senator Thurman entering the Whitehouse in 1880. He says that Senator Thurman is his choice and will be the choice of the party. He counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does not think the Republicans will nominate Grant, but hopes they will, and says the South would give him no support, and that he could not carry the States. On the other hand, he counts Mr. Tilden out of the race. He is for Mr. Wallace of Pennsylvania for Vice-President. He does