MOVEMENT OF REAL ESTATE

The closing week of the year has naturally been somewhat quiet in the realty market. The larger transactions have involved property south of Market street. These have not been numerous, but they are significant of the steady drift of capital toward the business section of the city. In this evidence is given of the belief of the public in the solid growth of the community on commercial and indus-trial lines, the essential element in con-

the Newport block property on the southerly line of Mission street, 91:8 feet east from Beale, 45:19x137:6, for $50,000. The improvements consist ρf a three-story schooners, the George W. Wells, launched at Camden on August 14, has been rigged, at Camden on August 14, has been rigged, fitted out and towed to sea, and by this time she must have reached one of the coal ports to take in her first cargo. The second six-master, says the Belfast, Me, correspondent of the Chicago Inter-Ocean, is still on the stocks at Bath, and will be launched in a few weeks. Unusual interest is felt in her, not only because she is a rival of the Camden glant, but also because she is to be commanded by the smartest skipper on the coast, Captain Lincoln Jewett of South Portland, familiarly known all along shore as "Linc" Jewett.

When he was a fisherman, sailing a lit-week's bad luck at present. He ordered the unturely router to guider to be put aside. Another was substituted; and they aside. Another was substituted; and they as they are the substituted and they as they are the substituted and they are t

It was by such performances as this that "Linc" Jewett climbed the ladder of success from the little fishing smack to the four-master. He has been successful in other ways, too, and now he is to be commander of one of the two wonders of the shipping world—the first two six masted schooners ever built.—New York Sun.
